Did you know?

With Halloween coming up, here are some safety tips for parents taking little ones trick or treating. Parents should check costumes for safety – be sure that they fit well and will not cause children to trip. Consider adding reflective tape to costumes, shoes, or trick or treat bags to make your children easier to see in the dark. Avoid sharp, long, or otherwise dangerous costume accessories like swords and canes. Also, check candy before children consume it. Dear brothers and sisters!

These words were spoken by the Risen Jesus to his disciples just before his Ascension into heaven. These words are the theme of the 2022 World Mission Day which, as always, reminds us that the Church is missionary by nature. This year World Mission Day offers us the opportunity to commemorate several important events in the Church's life and mission: the fourth centenary of the founding of the Congregation de Propaganda Fide, now the Congregation for the Evangelization of Peoples, and the second centenary of the Society of the Propagation of the Faith. A hundred years ago, the latter, together with the Society of the Holy Childhood and the Society of Saint Peter the Apostle, was granted the title "Pontifical".

-- Let me add that 100 years ago our Parish was erected. We are preparing a special time of Mission. Let's continue with the letter:

"You shall be my witnesses" – The call of every Christian to bear witness to Christ is the central point, the heart of Jesus' teaching to the disciples, in view of their being sent forth into the world. The disciples are to be witnesses of Jesus...wherever they go and in whatever place they find themselves.

Christ was the first to be sent, as a "missionary" of the Father (cf. Jn 20:21), and as such, he is the Father's "faithful witness" (cf. Rev 1:5). In a similar way, every Christian is called to be a missionary and witness to Christ. To evangelize is the very identity of the Church.

The words, "You shall be my witnesses", clarify aspects of the mission Christ entrusted to the disciples. The plural form of the verb emphasizes the communitarian and ecclesial nature of the disciples' missionary vocation. Consequently, mission is carried out together, not individually, in communion with the ecclesial community, and not on one's own initiative.

When the most obscure preacher, catechist or pastor in the most distant land preaches the Gospel, gathers his little community together or administers a sacrament, even alone, he is carrying out an ecclesial act, and his action is certainly attached to the evangelizing activity of the whole Church. He acts not in virtue of a mission which he attributes to himself or by a personal inspiration, but in union with the mission of the Church and in her name" (EN #60).

In addition, the disciples are urged to live their personal lives in a missionary key: they are sent by Jesus to the world not only to carry out, but also and above all to live the mission entrusted to them. The essence of the mission is to bear witness to Christ and his love of the Father for humanity.

Missionaries of Christ are not sent to communicate themselves, to exhibit their persuasive qualities and abilities or their managerial skills. Instead, theirs is the supreme honour of presenting Christ in words and deeds, proclaiming to everyone the Good News of his salvation, as the first apostles did. The true witness is the "martyr", the one who gives his or her life for Christ." For this reason, the testimony of an authentic Christian life is fundamental for the transmission of the faith. On the other hand, the task of proclaiming Christ's person and the message is equally necessary. In evangelization, then, the example of a Christian life and the proclamation of Christ are inseparable. They are the two lungs with which any community must breathe.

I exhort everyone to take up once again the courage, frankness and parrhesía of the first Christians, in order to bear witness to Christ in word and deed in every area of life. It is my hope that the local Churches will find in these Societies a sure means for fostering the missionary spirit among the People of God... I continue to dream of a completely missionary Church, and a new era of missionary activity among Christian communities... Mary, Queen of the Missions, pray for us! Given in Rome on January 6 2022 by Pope FRANCIS.
